FIGHT TO FINISH IN REPUBLICAN PRIMARY

Factions Going to it With Teeth and Toe Nails in Bitter Struggle for County Organization Control.

BACA AND ANDREWS

THE ISSUES AT STAKE

Returns from the country precincts in today's Republican primary, coming in late this afternoon, indicated that the issue in the county convention between Elfigo Baca and W. H. Andrews would be determined by the vote of the two city precincts tonight.

The Baca forces have won in Old Albuquerque and Durango. The Andrews forces have won in the following precincts, according to statements given out at their headquarters at 4 o'clock:

Alameda—4 delegates.

San Antonio—2 delegates.

Chili—3 delegates.

San Ignacio—1 delegate.

Ranchos de Atrisco—4 delegates.

Atrisco—2 delegates.

These with the two city precincts will give Andrews a majority in the county convention.

The Andrews men assert that in Pajarito fifty voters gathered at 1 o'clock and waited until after the primary hour without any chairman showing up. When the hour had passed and the meeting was not called to order, they say they called the meeting to order, elected officers and a delegation. The same thing, they assert, happened in Del Rio. Both were close precincts.

The Baca faction, it was reported, carried Barea's with 4 delegates.

Republicans of Bernalillo county, and especially of the two Albuquerque precincts, will clinch in a final fight at the primary election from 7 to 9 o'clock tonight, as the culmination of a battle for control of the county machine which pitted even the bitter factional contest which raged from 1906 to 1912 in the background.

Both sides have brought serious charges of corruption, attempted corruption and unfair methods. Each side has labeled the other with various, uncomplimentary epithets and there are all the conditions present of one of the good, old-time, tooth and nail and eye-gouging contests for which the Republicans of Bernalillo county have gained a statewide reputation.

On one side is lined up County Boss Jesus Romero, Elfigo Baca, his candidate for the Republican nomination for congress, and Charles Chadwick, the Albuquerque Romero leader, who it is said is headed for the sheriff's office in the next county election if Romero wins out.

On the other side are the supporters of W. H. Andrews for the congressional nomination, headed by the Morning Journal, which has determined to publish Jesus Romero for his rank desertion and disobedience to orders. Romero had no answer to the charge that he had deserted before the Journal opened its attack upon him, and it is now recognized as a fight to a finish for control of the county organization, with Andrews and Baca as the immediate issues at stake.

Baca, according to the Andrews men, has no show for the nomination for congress, even if he wins Bernalillo county's delegates; but they assert that the real purpose of Boss Romero is to make him county judge in 1916 and to elect Chadwick sheriff. Efforts will be made, also, it is asserted by the Andrews followers, to provide a job for Attorney John W. Wilson, Mayor Boettcher's personal political adviser, while Modesto C. Ortiz, the well known attorney and political orator, is to lead the Bernalillo county delegation in the state legislature.

The Romero forces charge that the opposition of the Journal is based solely on the fact that Romero refused to obey orders and stand for Andrews for the congressional nomination and that the issue has been forced upon the county boss. It is a fight, they say, for control of the party organization, which they propose to win.

Lacking a newspaper organ, the Romero forces have been issuing for the past week a little four-page pamphlet of their own, which has been distributed gratuitously throughout the city and which has made a particularly vicious print campaign against the opponents of the boss. In this pamphlet Elfigo Baca has been acknowledged as the leader of the Romero forces and the big strong man of the combination. He has been proclaimed the ideal of the Albuquerque Republicans supporting the Romero propaganda, as a popular candidate for congress.

Considerable bitterness has resulted in a personal way among the leaders of the two factions and this has resulted in vigorous efforts on both sides to land, regardless of effort.

The primaries in the county precincts are being held this afternoon. The anti-Romero forces charge that neither time nor place was given in the call for these county primaries and that they are to be held in secret by Romero leaders who will obligingly cast the ballots for the boss's delegates. The Romero leaders declare the primaries are to be open and above board and that the reason the anti-Romero fellows are kicking is because they know Boss Romero has the county precincts grabbed.

In the two city precincts the primaries extend from 7 to 9 o'clock and are to be by ballot. The anti-Romero forces allege that the two Romero forces allege that the two would allow Republicans of Albuquerque to vote at the rate of one vote for every fifteen seconds. The Romero forces say two hours is plenty of time to allow all the Republicans who are Republicans in Albuquerque to cast their ballots.

The anti-Romero faction declared that if any ballots are cast after the two-hour limit Romero will use that as an excuse to throw out the two Albuquerque delegations from the convention.

The forces of the boss declare the only chance the opposition has to win is by splitting the convention.

Taken all in all, the necessary requisites for a genuine, sham-banged if you do and dangled if don't Republican battle are at hand and the public is promised a spectacular exhibition of how Bernalillo county Republican harmony can be busted.

The two city polling places are, for the twenty-sixth precinct at the office of Charles Chadwick, 108 West Gold avenue, and for the twelfth precinct at the police station. Reserved seats are at a premium this afternoon.

C. G. MARDORFF AND

MISS ANNA DAY WED

AT VALLEY RANCH

The cedar room in the Miller bungalow at Valley Ranch was the scene, Thursday evening, of an exceptionally pretty wedding, as well as a culmination of a very enjoyable summer vacation, when Miss Anna E. Day became the bride of Mr. C. G. Mardorff.

The cedar room was beautifully decorated by the ladies of the ranch, the color scheme being green and yellow. The bride was beautifully gowned in white and carried a shower bouquet of sweet peas.

Miss Day has been for the past year a resident of Albuquerque where she has a host of friends, all of whom extend to her sincere best wishes while the groom, Mr. Mardorff, is known throughout the state as one of our leading business men and at present is cashier of the Capital City bank at Santa Fe.

After the wedding an elaborate dinner was served in the large dining room at the ranch, the same color scheme being carried out as in the cedar room. Following the supper a large party of friends accompanied the bride and groom in motor cars to Santa Fe, where Mr. and Mrs. Mardorff will reside.
